

AdExpress,

Aesthetic and functional improvements

Changes - July 2016

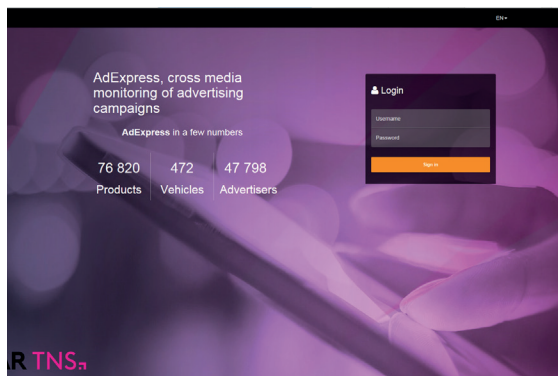

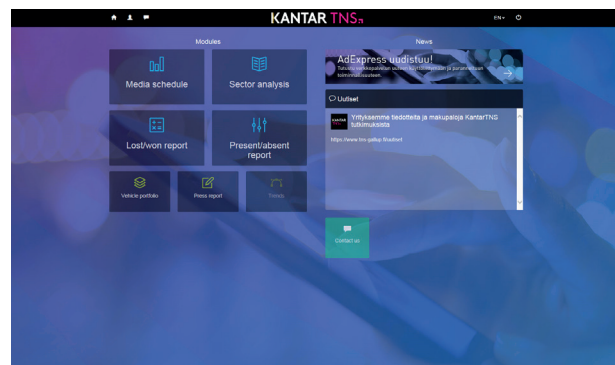

0.1 Design & ergonomics

The aesthetic aspect of AdExpress has been entirely rethought to make it more consistent with our new visual identity in order to make the platform more modern and user-friendly.

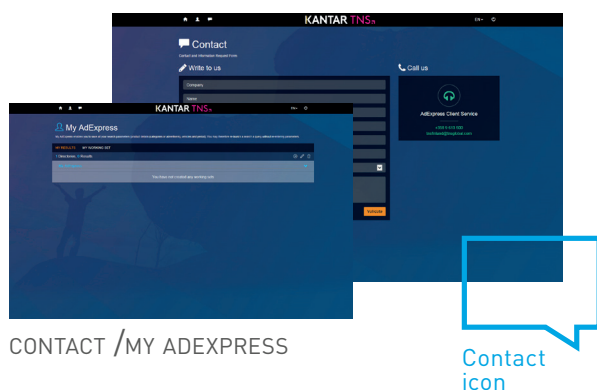

Close-up on the new module selection page

We have reorganised this page, which is now the central point of the tool. You will be able to access the modules that you have subscribed to via the left-hand part of the page, while you can use the right-hand part to:

- 1 - Download our latest content
- 2 - Receive Kantar TNS news (events, research and company news, etc.)
- 3 - Access the latest additional Report and News
- 4 - View the various AdExpress support documents (user guide, methodology)

More modern and intuitive

All of the tool's existing pages have also seen aesthetic and functional improvements:

A single "my AdExpress" page

You can now view all of your saved results, environments and alerts from a single page.

Easier contact with Kantar "TNS"

Do you have a question or a technical problem? Do you want to subscribe to an additional module? You can use the contact icon on the top navigation bar to contact us at any time.

0.2 Constructing searches & navigation

The query corresponds to the different configuration steps that will help you access the end result. To provide greater flexibility when you are both constructing and modifying your query, the right-click has been replaced by a single breadcrumb trail that you can click on at any time.

A single waymark: the breadcrumb trail

The breadcrumb trail will always be made up of three steps* prior to the display of the result:

*Depending on the module you are in, a number of steps might be already filled.

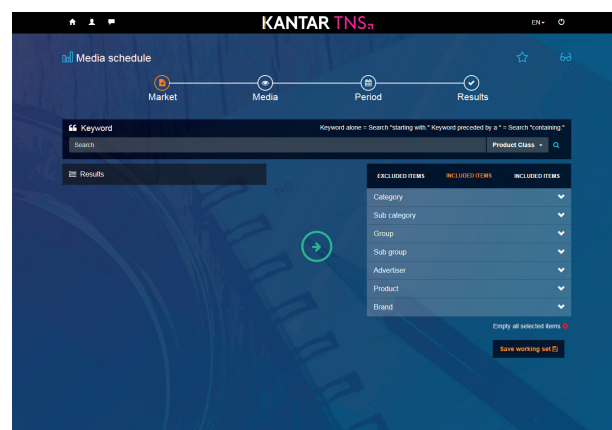

There are two main aims behind the implementation of the breadcrumb trail:

01 To provide you with a clear, visual waymark that is common to all modules.

02 To increase flexibility by enabling dynamic modification of one or more of your query parameters (market, media and period).

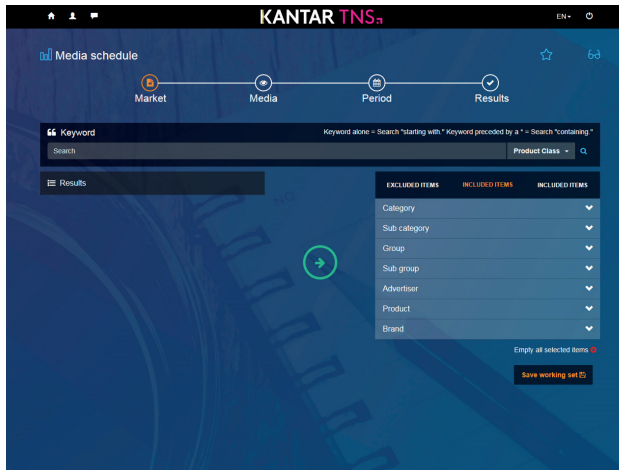

Harmonised construction of the steps in your search

Harmonisation was central to the development of this version of AdExpress. In light of this, we have redesigned all of the steps of the query so that they take a generic form applicable to all modules.

0.3 Result

Because AdExpress is a data viewing tool, we have worked hard to find ways to improve both the aesthetics and functionality of the results report.

Locked column headers

So that the headings are always visible even when the user scrolls down (useful for tables with large numbers of rows).

Results grouped by level

Whether you want to work on macro data or drill down to a greater level of detail, grouping by level means that you can now improve the ordering of the information reported in the results table.

Reworked export and access to advertising creations

All of the exports have been reworked so that they reflect the rendering of the results table as closely as possible. The viewing of advertising creations has been improved.
